

Grand Champion Steer Sets Record

NEW PRICE RECORD — Lori Neal sells her Grand Champion Junior Fair Steer to Jim Kuster of Jim's Super Duper for a record $1.56 a pound during the livestock sale Thursday. Lori's steer weighed in at 1,174 pounds.

Lori Neal's grand champion steer was purchased by Jim's Super Duper Thursday for $1.56 per pound, a Pickaway County Fair 4-H steer sale record.

The record price came in spite of a depressed fat cattle market this year when the top price paid for prime steers in the major live stock trading terminals is $11 per hundred below the price of a year ago.

Jim's Super Duper not only purchased the grand champion animal, a 1,174 pound steer for a total of $1,831.44, but also was the runner-up bidder on the reserve grand champion and bought a total of 10 steers at the sale.

The reserve champion, a 1,043 pound steer owned by Donald Lamb, was purchased by Laurel Springs Farm of Laurelville at $1.05 per pound, a total of $1,095.15. Laurel Springs Farm was the runner-up bidder on the grand champion.

The steer sale totaled $71,740.37 for 140 animals. The average price of single steers was $52.34. Twelve steers sold in groups at $38 per hundredweight. The sale average including these 12 was $51.21.

A year ago with a much stronger market the sale total was $72,370.45 and the average for the single steers $61.08 per hundred.

Thursday's sale was conducted by Producers Live Stock and the auctioneer was Roy Mason.

Eyerman and Company, owned by George Bowling of Circleville, was the largest single buyer Thursday. The meat packing firm purchased a total of 12 steers.

Soviets Violating A-Treaty?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. intelligence review is underway to determine if the Soviets violated the spirit of a landmark nuclear agreement with two powerful underground blasts in July.

The analysis is hampered so far by limited information about the terrain of the two Russian test sites and by what U.S. officials call "a rather wide band of uncertainty in regard to the exact yields of these explosions."

However, officials say preliminary indications appear to point to a Soviet infraction of the treaty's intent — but not the legal letter of the accord since the pact has not yet been ratified by the Senate.

The suspicious blasts occurred July 4 at Semipalatinsk, in the south central region of the country, and July 29 at Azgir near the Caspian Sea. The question is whether they had a force in excess of 150 kilotons, the ceiling agreed to by then President Richard M. Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev in Moscow in 1974.

Reporters traveling in Iran with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger were told Thursday that the Russians may have violated the spirit of the agreement. Officials here claimed the Russians had said last spring that the Soviet Union did not intend "to take any action incompatible with the provisions of the treaty," on the understanding the United States would also observe its provisions.

The treaty had been held up while U.S. and Soviet negotiators completed a parallel pact prohibiting peaceful underground explosions in excess of 150 kilotons. The two treaties then were sent for ratification to the Senate July 29, the same day the Soviets ran their second test. A kiloton is equivalent to 1,000 tons of TNT.

Both Tass, the Soviet News agency, and Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, informed Russian readers last spring that no Russian tests prohibited under the pact would be carried out as long as the United States observed the agreement.

At the White House, spokesman Ron Nessen said "the rough range they're (analysts) looking at straddles 150 kilotons. It could be above or below."

He said President Ford received reports from the National Security Council on July 7 and July 30 and an additional report Thursday on the first blast.

Asked if Ford would consider the Soviets in violation of the spirit of the treaty if the explosion exceeded 150 kilotons, Nessen said he could not comment since "the scientists have not yet determined the size of the tests."

Firm Sees CB Chaos Coming Soon

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Protesters orchestrating demonstrations over the air, prostitutes soliciting customers and police fighting back with electronic jamming — all are possibilities envisioned in a federal government study of the future of citizens band radio.

The wild proliferation of the small-talk medium could cause international protests in the next few years as CBers snarl world-wide communications, the report speculates.

And through it all, the Federal Communications Commission may be powerless to step in and regulate the chaos.

The report was prepared by Arthur D. Little Inc., a private consulting firm, for the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy.

In a series of scenarios, the study speculates about developments in telecommunications over the next 15 years. The scenarios are not predictions but, in the words of the study, are "futable" — they could happen.

The report also envisions: —The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. carrying all television service into homes over phone lines. TV stations stop broadcasting on the air.

—The U.S. Postal Service jeopardized by competition from private firms. The rivals deliver color facsimiles of letters into homes over the telephone network and electronically provide newspapers and magazines that can be read on television screens.

—A government-run communications satellite system that carries educational programs, medical information, defense data and also competes with private carriers, such as AT&T.

The CB scenario envisions anti-busing demonstrators using radios to organize riots. But by 1977, it says, police will have learned to jam CB conversations by broadcasting noise on the channels.

Other issues will create problems as well. Lookouts will warn bandits of approaching police, and prostitutes will cruise the streets broadcasting their offers.

In 1977, the scenario says, scrambling equipment will be on the market that will allow private conversations. And there will be calling equipment that will let CBers dial base stations as though they had telephones.

In 1978, the report says, increased unsupervised activity will cause American CB conversations to skip thousands of miles, disrupting communications in Europe and South America. This will bring complaints to the United Nations.

By 1979, the FCC will have virtually abandoned efforts to enforce its rules. Faulty CB equipment will interfere with television and FM radio.

By 1980, 100 FM channels will be freed for CB use. The sound quality on these channels will be better, but people who want licenses to use them will have to submit recordings of their voices so that regulators can identify violators of federal rules.

In 1984, the FCC will ban CB voice communication on all but the FM channels, and by 1986, there will be 10 million radios in use on these channels.

Flu Vaccine Push Eases In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — As evidence increases that the mysterious "legionnaire's disease" in Pennsylvania is not flu, Congress is showing symptoms of losing any sense of urgency about a plan to get the government's swine flu immunization program off dead center.

Both the House Commerce Committee and a Senate health panel are studying a proposed insurance plan that would make the federal government liable for most claims for any injuries resulting from the swine flu vaccine.

The House Commerce Committee postponed a decision until Tuesday in order to have the House Judiciary Committee look over the bill's complex legal points. The Senate health subcommittee also deferred a final judgment.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., a backer of the Ford administration's liability bill, said reports that the Pennsylvania disease is not swine flu may have dampened the enthusiasm of some House members.

"It will be tight," Rogers said of his efforts to get the bill to the House floor Tuesday before many members leave town for the Republican National Convention. "I think it can be done," said Rogers. "At least we're going to try."

Bus Driver Proves Hero

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — Jim Shoots doesn't know it yet, but he'll receive a hero's welcome when his bus loaded with 35 school children and nine adult counselors arrives in this southern Indiana town.

And Shoots — credited by townsfolk with saving the lives of those on his bus — probably won't like it, says Bob Holmes, superintendent of New Albany-Floyd County schools.

Holmes said Shoots was driving the bus through Big Thompson Canyon in Colorado last Saturday night when he sensed that something was wrong. He turned the vehicle around and headed out of the canyon.

A short time later, a wall of water roared through the canyon, killing an estimated 100 persons.

"Jim's kind of a shy person, so he may not be too comfortable with it all," Holmes said. "But it's going to be a joyous occasion."

Midway Chatter

Thursday was probably the night of the biggest attendance at the fair with the tractor pull and the livestock auction the big attractions.

The auction always attracts a lot of interest, especially the sale of the grand champion animal. The show arena was packed for the welcoming comments from Paul Dean, president of the Fair Board, and Steve Bartels, 4-H cooperative extension agent.

Although the average price per pound was below the sale of a year ago, most observers felt prices held up well considering the presently depressed fat cattle market. The market right now is about $35 per hundred and a recent article in the Wall Street Journal reported that cattle feeders were losing as much as $100 per head.

Last night that loss was absorbed by the many merchants and individuals who support the sale. Most of these buyers will re-sell the animals at the Producer auction on Wednesday. The 4-Hers of Pickaway County owe a debt of gratitude to these buyers who through their efforts every year help to maintain the high average price.

A lot of the success of a sale depends on the ring men, those individuals who assist the auctioneer by taking bids from the buyers. Pickaway County has to have two of the best and most enthusiastic ring men in Norm Godden and Jim Ford, both of them auctioneers themselves. Harold Shernan and Joe Streitenberger represented Producers Live Stock Market in the ring.

Twyla Leist, the widow of the late Willie Leist who for years was the junior fair sale auctioneer, was at the sale Thursday.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted lower again today, showing little response early in the session to news of a drop in the basic money supply and a rise in unemployment.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down a fraction and declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange held a small lead on those advancing.

After the close of Thursday's session, the Federal Reserve reported that the nation's basic money supply in the latest reporting week fell by an average of $1.2 billion.

A declining money supply over a longer period could lead to a more relaxed credit policy at the Fed, a bullish influence on stock prices.

At the start today, the government said the unemployment rate rose to 7.8 per cent in July from 7.5 per cent in June.

Early prices today included Ford, down 3/4 at 56 1/2; AT&T up 1/4 at 59; and Kerr McGee, off 1 1/2 at 73 1/4.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 5.60 to 986.68.

Bargains In Small Cars Seen

DETROIT (AP) — Consumers who wait until the end of a model year to do their car shopping will find plenty of bargain-priced 1976 subcompacts from which to choose this summer.

But those in the market for something larger may have to hop from dealer to dealer before they locate the car of their choice, and it likely won't come with a sale pricetag.

Most summers, dealers offer close-out discounts on their current stocks to make room for the higher-priced new models, which the auto companies begin shipping in August.

This year, dealer showrooms are overflowing with slow-selling small cars, but they are just about out of many sporty compact, intermediate, full-size or luxury models.

That's because consumer demand for larger models has come roaring back after two years of waning interest. Detroit, which had been thinking small since the energy crisis in 1973, didn't anticipate so dramatic a market turnaround when it drew up its 1976-model production schedules.

The makers have been revising their output plans weekly since the spring but still haven't been able to catch up with the mounting demand for bigger cars.

"It's a real oddity the way we have such a huge supply of small cars and so few of the others," said one industry analyst.

He noted that dealer supplies of many compact, mid-size, standard and luxury models as of Aug. 1 were down to 20 to 30 days, while stocks of subcompacts remained at unwieldy levels ranging from 95 to 135 days.

A 60-to 70-day supply normally is considered optimal.

The 1977 models almost certainly will carry higher pricetags. The industry won't announce new prices for another few weeks, but auto executives have hinted the 1977 cars may cost as much as 6 per cent more than current models — about a $300 to $350 increase on the average.

According to the police report, Ann E. Hipp, 36, 409 Edwards Road, was making a right turn around the corner of the Murphy Mart building, when Daryl A. Heeter was taken to Berger Hospital by the Circleville Emergency Medical Team where he was treated for minor injuries. No citations were issued by investigating officer Kenny Henn.

Crime Targets

Every property owner has a good idea how expensive the public school system has become. He sees a representative sample of the cost in his tax bills. What he may not know is that a hefty chunk of that money is spent for purposes having nothing to do with education.

Well over a half billion dollars is spent annually in the United States as a result of crime in the public school system. Incidences of violence and property destruction are rising, and they can be found in almost every community — large or small, affluent or poor.

Congress heard testimony on school crime last summer and as a result asked the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to lend assistance in bringing such crimes under control. So widespread and vicious has school crime become, far more than token efforts are required to put a stop to it.

In 1974 (latest figures available) vandals caused an estimated $102 million in school damages; burglars accounted for another $243 million in losses; arsonists caused damage to the extent of $109 million and other losses (including student extortion) amounted to $140 million.

Security has become a bigger problem in many schools than getting the lessons across. Some school districts are trying to solve the problem by inviting student participation in crime prevention. That might work.

The record shows the success of other efforts has ranged from moderate to miserable.

Explosive Formula

By JIM BISHOP

The black-uniformed fascists were marching in Rome. The bellicose dictator, Benito Mussolini, stood on a rug-draped balcony of the Palazzo Venezia waving his fist at the world. Enrico Fermi, a physicist, tried one more experiment with Emilio Segre. They bombarded uranium with slow neutrons. Whatever they were trying to discover, the test failed. As is customary with scientists, they published the result in an international scientific journal so that other physicists would not repeat the tests.

It was snowing in Berlin in the late Spring of 1938. At the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, Lise Meitner flipped through old magazines. She studied the computations of the Fermi-Segre test again and again. Her scientific mind kept telling her that the test may have failed, but that the Italians had proved that uranium fission was possible.

If this were so, an atomic bomb could be manufactured. Theoretically, it would have many times the explosive power of all the bombs in the world. And yet — it could not be. Surely Fermi would have noticed it and the Italians would be making such an explosive.

Otto Hahn cut in on her reverie. He held out keys. "Take my car," he said tersely, "and go to lunch. Do not come back, Lise." She seemed surprised, amused.

"Why?" Hahn was her boss. "Because," he said, "you are a Jew and your name just went up on Himmler's list." "This is a joke? I'm a physicist." "Go, I tell you. Drive north out of Germany. Fast."

Miss Meitner left. She kept the magazine. It was two evenings later when she arrived in Copenhagen. Miss Meitner took her news to Niels Bohr. Dr. Bohr looked like a well-dressed walrus.

He had no time for Meitner. "I must get the evening train to the ship. I go to America to teach at Princeton University. I have no time, young lady."

She begged. She told him about Enrico Fermi's experimental failure. He was not interested. She pushed her way into the house and used chalk on a blackboard. The computation was a series of hieroglyphics.

"Look at it," she said. "Then think of barium in the uranium." He looked, scowling. His pudgy index finger pinched each of the figures. Niels Bohr was stunned.

"The Italians can make it," she said. "So can Hitler's scientists, if they read the test carefully." Bohr copied the test. "Please," he said, waving his arms. "I must go."

"The Americans must have this," she said. He nodded. "I will see Dr. Einstein. He knows the Americans." Lise Meitner hurried to Sweden to live out the war.

Summer came early to Princeton. N.J. Niels Bohr remembered the Fermi test. He was told that Dr. Einstein was enjoying a holiday at Peconic Bay, Long Island. Bohr gave the test to a brilliant scientist, Dr. Edward Teller. "Take this to Einstein," he said. "It's important."

Einstein was on the porch of a cottage. He looked like an intellectual poodle playing a violin. Teller told him the story. The scientist examined the paper. "Yes, yes," he said, "but I do not know Roosevelt, and Roosevelt does not know me."

The two men meditated. Einstein smiled. "I know a broker in Wall Street at Goldman Sachs. He is a personal friend of the President. He will deliver this with a note from me."

It was a warm sunny day when the broker stood at the White House gate. He did not know FDR. He was embarrassed. Yet, he told the guard, he had to see the President.

What about? Well, he said a personal letter from Dr. Albert Einstein. The guard phoned Grace Tully. There was a two-minute wait. "Send him in. The President will see him."

The broker stood before the big desk. Roosevelt leaned back, grinning through his Bakelite cigarette holder. He read the note. "An atom bomb?" he said. "Does Dr. Einstein think it can be done?" The broker nodded.

When he left, the President pressed a buzzer. General Watson came in. "This," he said, "is a mathematical formula sent by a German woman scientist. Einstein thinks it can be used to fashion the most powerful explosive in the world."

"Pa, I want you to take $6,000 out of my budget and give it to the Navy Department. Tell them to ask their bright young men to see if there's anything to this." . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As a member of both academia and business, W. Allen Wallis, has a rare perspective of the ongoing battle between big government and free enterprise, in the personal as well as business sense.

Wallis distrusts big government. He sees it as corrosive of human freedom, unable to produce on its promises, inimical to the market economy and prosperity, and wasteful.

These past four decades have been a test and a trial for Wallis. Scholar, university chancellor, corporate director, member of five presidential commissions, author, Wallis has been forced to watch government grow.

"In the past 40 years the trend in public affairs has been very adverse in the long term for freedom and prosperity, or maybe I should say for economic welfare," said Wallis in an interview this week.

His answer is a book, "An Over-Governed Society," made up of various speeches given over the years that poke holes in the belief that big government can solve everything. It is published by The Free Press, a division of Macmillan.

Wallis, 64, an economist and statistician, is now chancellor of the University of Rochester and a director of, among others, Eastman Kodak, Trans Union, Esmark, Bausch and Lomb, Macmillan and Metropolitan Life Insurance.

Avoiding political labels, he says he chooses the best of candidates regardless of party, but underlying his choices is an awareness that we have changed the concepts of the forefathers, who sought to prevent any special interest from using the powers of government.

Now, he observes, politics is controlled by minorities, and each minority seeks the special favors that government can bestow.

"A bloc of 10 per cent can determine if a man is elected, if members of that bloc are ready to vote for him solely on one issue," he commented.

And who are the minorities? Just about everyone and anyone who seeks special consideration, including businessmen who run to Washington to seek advantages that the free market system, the pricing system, would not grant.

One of the consequences of this minority power, he continues, is that government grows bigger and more involved in jobs it cannot do effectively, and that frustrated voters futilely seek to remedy the problem with more government.

In the process, he adds, the productive power of our market system and our personal freedoms are infringed upon. Promising but not fulfilling government grows and job-producing free enterprise is thwarted.

Unlike many corporate officials, Wallis doesn't blame economic teaching for the public opinion that permits government to grow. On the contrary, he says, the more economics education the more conservative students become.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Does it still hold that if a woman has had one Caesarean delivery that subsequent children will be born in the same way?

Mrs. J. D. D., Tenn.

Dear Mrs. D.:

It was once considered a medical adage that "once a Caesarean always a Caesarean." This is based on the fact that the pelvic bones of the mother do not change during later pregnancies.

In most instances, the delivery of a child by Caesarean birth is due to the fact that the child is too large to pass through the normal vaginal canal. Hence, an incision is made in the lower part of the abdominal wall for the rapid delivery of the child.

In some instances, even if there is no unusual discrepancy between the size of the child and the mother's pelvic bones, the operation is performed when the baby's life is threatened by too long a period of labor.

It is estimated that about one out of every 40 deliveries is done by Caesarean section.

The only way it can be determined if subsequent pregnancies will require Caesarean section is to discuss with your doctor the basic reasons that made the original one necessary.

Is it true that left-handed children stutter more frequently than right-handed children?

Mrs. F. E., Nev.

Dear Mrs. E.:

There is no relationship between the two, from a physical point of view.

There is, however, a great possibility that stuttering may be the end result of undue pressure that is placed on left-handed children to convert them to right-handedness.

There was a time in our society when the left-handed person was made to feel stigmatized, almost as if he had a deformity.

Today, there is less and less emphasis put on the value of right-handedness as against left-handedness.

The important attitude is to allow the child the freedom of functioning in the way that is most comfortable for him. No pressure should be put on him to change from one hand to the other.

Stuttering is only one of the psychological penalties that can be imposed on him by such unnecessary pressures.

Miss Purdom-Mr. Griebel Exchange Wedding Vows

MR. AND MRS. GLENN PAUL GRIEBEL

Dr. Kenneth B. Cohee performed the double-ring ceremony which united Miss Marsha Lynn Purdom and Mr. Glenn Paul Griebel, in marriage, July 31, in the Frankfort United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Purdom, Frankfort. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. George Griebel Sr., Circleville, and the late Mr. George Griebel Sr.

A half-hour of organ music by Mrs. Charles Junk, Frankfort, preceded the 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a formal length gown of white organza trimmed with venise lace. The gown was designed with two tier trumpet sleeves, scooped neckline, and an empire waistline accented with lace, and lace motifs on the skirt which extended into a double lace edged chapel length train. Her chapel length mantilla was partially edged in lace and trimmed with lace appliques. She carried a bouquet of pastel colored daisies and carnations intertwined with baby's breath.

Mrs. Larry Baker, Winchester, Ky., matron of honor, wore a formal length blue floral polyester gown designed with a sweetheart neckline. She carried a wicker basket of pastel daisies and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Karnes, Greenfield, and Miss Gail Griebel, Circleville, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were styled identically to Mrs. Baker's with pink and blue backgrounds respectively. They both carried baskets of daisies and baby's breath.

The duties of best man were performed by Mr. George Griebel Jr., Lebanon, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. Gary Griebel, Defiance, brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Loren Purdom, Wheelersburg, brother of the bride. Acolytes were Gene and Gerry Griebel, Circleville, brothers of the bridegroom.

Assisting hostesses for the reception, held in the church youth center were Miss Madelyn Dinkler, Columbus, Mrs. Steven Perkins, Hamler, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Loren Purdom, Wheelersburg, sister-in-law of the bride.

Miss Kim Tomlinson and Miss Sheri Barr, Circleville, had charge of the guest book.

The new Mrs. Griebel is a 1972 graduate of Adena High School and received a BS degree in Home Economics from Morehead State University, Morehead, Ky. in May 1976. She was employed as an assistant manager for Murphy Mart, Circleville. Mr. Griebel, a 1970 graduate of Circleville High School is now an assistant manager of Murphy Mart Store in Circleville.

Following a honeymoon to Florida, the couple will reside at the Valhalla Apartments, 144 Lewis Ave., Circleville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception were from Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan; Chillicothe, Greenfield, Defiance, Hamler, Circleville, Sabina, Wheelersburg, Columbus, Dayton, and Lebanon, Ohio.

Rubber Talks To Resume On Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations between striking rubber workers and the nation's four major tire and rubber manufacturers will resume Saturday. Labor Secretary W.J. Usery Jr. has told both sides to be prepared to keep talking until the 15-week strike is settled.

"Come prepared to remain in continuous bargaining," Usery told negotiators for the industry and the United Rubber Workers union in telegrams delivered Thursday.

"The widespread economic hardship and human suffering that is being incurred because of the dispute between members of the URW and the four major rubber companies...must be brought to an end," Usery said.

The talks broke off last Thursday with each side bitterly accusing the other of refusing to compromise.

The strike by 60,000 rubber workers began April 21 and has idled 47 plants owned by Firestone, Goodyear, Uniroyal and B.F. Goodrich. The plants account for about 60 per cent of the nation's tire production.

Government officials say auto production could be slowed next month if the strike continues.

The negotiations had been bogged down over salaries. The union is demanding a contract that will allow it to gain ground on other industrial unions — calling for a $1.65-an-hour raise over three years and an unlimited cost-of-living escalator clause.

The last industry offer proposed a $1.30-an-hour increase over three years and a limited cost-of-living rider.

In instructing negotiators to meet in his office 10 a.m. Saturday, Usery said he recognized the union's right to demand and management's right to resist. But he added:

"There comes a time when these rights must be tempered to reduce the harm being inflicted on the employees and their families, the stockholders, the people in the communities involved, and the nation."

New State Laws Take Effect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Liquor permits, garbage collections, and emergency vehicles are affected by new laws that became effective in Ohio today.

For the first time, counties, municipalities, and townships have been given the right to appeal in court from decisions of the liquor commission granting, transferring, or cancelling liquor permits.

Under prior law, they were limited to appearing at hearings when they felt an existing permit holder failed to meet building, safety, or health requirements, or did not maintain an establishment which was easily inspected.

The local governments' recommendations until now have been taken under consideration by the commission which could be challenged through appeal procedures limited to permit holders who applied for a permit or renewal and were turned down.

Under the new statute, sponsored by Rep. Kenneth Rocco, D-7 Parma, political subdivisions have the right to file objections with the state no later than 30 days before the expiration of an existing permit, in the case of renewals.

If decisions growing out of hearings do not comply with the wishes of the local communities, they then may file appeals with the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas, in the court of common pleas where the business is located, or where the applicant proposes to enter business. Subsequent appeals then may be made to the state's appeals courts or the Ohio Supreme Court.

Rocco said the legislation was needed to give local governments a bigger voice in commission procedures designed, among other things, to protect the public decency, sobriety, peace, and good order of neighborhoods.

Rep. J. Leonard Camera, D-53 Lorain, sponsored a newly effective law intended to crack down on homeowners, tenants, and absentee landlords who permit trash, garbage, and other "unsanitary or unsightly" materials to accumulate on their property.

Camera's bill says that upon finding by a city council or other local legislative authority that such an accumulation poses a detriment to public health, local authorities may remove the trash and rubbish and then send the bill to the responsible party.

It states that the owner or resident first must be given 15 days' notice of the intended action, by certified mail if the responsible party lives outside the city.

Finally, a third new statute exempts public safety and emergency vehicles from a longstanding requirement for motorists to shut off their engines, remove keys, and set emergency brakes when leaving their vehicles. Rep. Kenneth Cox, D-41 Barberton, and other sponsors said it was needed to facilitate health and safety officials responding to emergency calls.

Bui...ng, Impement Labor Talks Held

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Contract talks are now under way between the United Auto Workers and the three giants of the construction and farm implement industry: Caterpillar Tractor Co., Deere & Co. and International Harvester.

Caterpillar negotiations began Wednesday with broad smiles and hope for quick settlements in the before current three-year contracts expire Oct. 1.

Caterpillar Vice President Clifford N. Hathway said the firm has "managed well during the life of this contract and we have a noteworthy record of employment growth and stability."

"The quality of employee relations at Caterpillar," he said at the end of preliminary talks Wednesday, "should be identical with the quality of the Caterpillar product."

The UAW's chief negotiator, Pat Greathouse, said the union's central theme is "job and income security." However, he stressed that wages also were important and if companies do "not put their best foot forward, they would be making a drastic mistake."

No "target" company has been noted out for special bargaining pressure, Greathouse said. "If we near the end of the current agreement, what we do is concentrate on bargaining with a particular company, because we can't spend enough time with all of them."

In 1973 the target was Deere, which settled hours before the old contract expired. Caterpillar was struck for 11 days, however, and International Harvester's workers walked out for 17 days.

While Caterpillar wages are below those of Deere and Harvester, Greathouse said there are no plans to force Caterpillar up to par. He said Deere companies are on an incentive plan which brings average pay up, and Caterpillar offers fringe benefits that Deere does not.

Caterpillar wages average $6.83 an hour, while Deere employees make $7.55 and Harvester workers $7.05.

The Caterpillar talks involve 37,000 UAW members in five states, while Deere talks in Moline are for 27,000 workers in six states and Harvester 43,000 workers in nine states.

Columbus Girl Swims Channel

DOVER, England (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Tina Bischoff of Columbus, Ohio, has completed a swim of the English Channel in unofficial record time of 9 hours 3 minutes.

Miss Bischoff swam from Shakespeare Bay in England to France on Thursday under windy conditions. The new record will not be official until the Channel Swimming Association has a report from an official observer who accompanied the swimmer.

The previous record for a one-way 22-mile swim was 9 hours 35 minutes, set 11 years ago by Barry Watson of Britain, swimming from France to England. For an England-to-France swim, the record of 9 hours 36 minutes was set by Lynne Cox of the United States in 1973.

Angola Churches Face Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — An American churchman back from a fact-finding trip to Angola says its churches are faring well in areas firmly controlled by the new government, but are in distress in the most populous, productive region of central Angola where the civil war continues.

"I was not prepared for the level of military activity still going on there," says the Rev. Lawrence W. Henderson, adding that it has not generally been reported because of limitations on news reporters. "There's a lot of fighting and it has increased considerably in recent weeks."

He says that in that central region, agriculturally the most productive "breadbasket" of the country, forces of the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola — UNITA — led by Jonas Savimbi, still are in a struggle with those of the Movement for the Popular Liberation of Angola — MPLA — headed by Agostinho Neto, which claimed victory last February.

It has set up the new government at the capital at Luanda, and in that area, there is a general mood of church confidence and vitality, and of cooperation with the government, says the Rev. Mr. Henderson, an official of the United Church of Christ Board of World Ministries.

"Up to this point, the government has consistently followed through on its promises of religious freedom," he said in an interview. "The government is absolutely committed to a Socialist society, but I found no reason to believe its leaders intend to carry out any war against religion."

He said the government's political position of "scientific socialism" holds that religion is "just an appendix, a leftover from feudalism and capitalism" that needs to be replaced by a scientific outlook, but that so far, no attempts had been made to restrict religious teaching.

As part of a three-man team sent to gather information on the church situation in Angola for a report to a meeting of the World Council of Churches central committee in August, he said that south of the Luanda region in central Angola, strife and uncertainties remain.

"There is conflict, open confrontation and fear," he said. "The churches, caught in the conflict between government troops and guerrillas, are forced to collaborate with the government in the cities. But in the rural areas where the government is not strong, the churches are seen as still resisting. Schools are not open and the people who fled to the bush still are there."

The Evangelical Church of Central Angola, related to the United Church of Christ in this country, is the predominant Protestant body in that region, while Methodists predominate in the Luanda region and Baptists in northern Angola. Roman Catholics are spread through the country.

Over-all, the six million Angolans are about 40 per cent Catholic, 15 per cent Protestant and 45 per cent traditional African religion.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, during a tumultuous welcome by West Germans on February 22, 1962, said the United States would back them up with "the full strength of American power."

The American Quest

First came the convictions . . . solid rock-like convictions . . . about man and his rights . . . convictions about God and the gifts with which He generously blessed mankind. Then, came a search to implement these convictions; the result was our Declaration of Independence.

American liberty like America itself had its beginning in the quest for spiritual identity. In the wilderness itself the pilgrim fathers searched and labored to build a civilization based on their religious convictions. They probed their minds and hearts and discovered that they shared a common vision of "one nation under God." Again, the Declaration was the inspired result.

If our third century is to be one of "independence," like the two that have preceded it, all of us must continue this quest, and maintain this eternal vigilance of faith and religious commitment.

On Books And Activities At The Library

You won't see us at the Fair, but we're there! We may be a well-groomed animal or an outstanding craft item or even a beautiful jar of pickles! Exhibitors have come to realize that the Pickaway County Public Library is the place to go for information on all types of projects. If you're missing out on the blue ribbons, try us for ideas the next time!

After those long days at the Fair, a good book is the answer to relaxing. Try one of our new ones this week.

Shelby Hearn has written a novel exploring 3 generations of 2 Texas families. "Now And Another Time" tells the intertwined stories of inherited dreams.

Set in the seamy side of London, "The Family Arsenal" by Paul Theroux brings together a motley cast of characters in a novel of complex relationships and a tautly strung thriller.

Another family saga is "Gerhardt's Children" by Jerrold Mundis. It's the story of a German Catholic clan growing up in midwestern America. The story of angry sons and rebellious daughters, it's epic both in scope and emotional appeal.

A single TV reporter, a married lawyer, a bored housewife and a discontented jet setter have one thing in common in "The Last Chance" by Rona Joffe. They're each looking for their last chance at fulfillment.

"The Question Of Max" by Amanda Cross sparkles with wit and suspense as Kate Fansler, Professor of English and part-time amateur sleuth tries to unravel a tangled estate. It's a detective story filled with good fun.

Leonard Sander's "The Hamlet Warning" is another in the long list of recent CIA-Political Intrigue novels.

A gothic with a giggle—that's Joan Aiken's newest suspense novel. "Castle Barebane" is set in Scotland and is peopled with some nice and some not so nice characters.

"The Last Act" by Joanne Marshall will make you wonder what a nice girl like Hester is doing in the Keyes School of Dramatic Art. It's romantic suspense from start to finish.

If you're singing "Take me out to the ballgame" these days, be sure to stop by for one of our new baseball books. "My Luke And I" by Eleanor Gehrig is Mrs. Gehrig's joyous and tragic love for the 'Iron Man of Baseball'.

"El Tiant" by Luis Tiant is an inspiring autobiography of the pitching wizard of the Boston Red Sox.

A collection of the baseball greats in the '40s and '50s, "Baseball Between The Lines" by Donald Honig will please those with a yen for baseball nostalgia.

For the craft people, 3 great new titles have arrived: "167 Things To Make For Children" from Better Homes And Gardens, "Crafts From Around The World" also from BHG and "Decorating With Crochet" by Anne Halliday.

People hold a certain fascination for many readers. The theater brings us subjects for 2 new books. "Charles Laughton" is an intimate biography of the famous actor by Charles Higham.

"The Vaudevillians" by Bill Smith is a collection of short biographies of the famous headliners of the vaudeville stage.

Bishop Pike was one of America's most controversial clergymen. "The Death And Life Of Bishop Pike" by Stringfellow and Towne is an utterly candid biography of the man and his impact on the contemporary church.

The harrowing story of a young woman's mental breakdown and descent into madness and her husband's decision to care for her at home makes "Anna" by David Reed a powerful and moving story of love and the tragedy of madness.

"Fort Apache" by Tom Walker is NOT a western! It's the story of men and violence. It is, in fact, the story of life and death in New York City's most violent precinct and the cops who work it.

Corruption is as American as apple pie or so Nathan Miller would have us believe. "The Founding Finaglers" by Mr. Miller is an interesting history of foul play in America.

"Friendly Fire" by C.D.B. Bryan is the sympathetic examination of how one American family reacted to the death of a son in Vietnam.

"Rx: The Christian Love Treatment" by Calabrese and Proctor provides guidelines for the use of Christian love in treating emotional ailments.

Sybil Leel enters a new field of writing in "Inside Bellevue." It is an expose of the famous hospital and the treatment of patients of limited or exhausted funds.

Be sure to visit the County Fair this week but take time to pick up a blue ribbon winner at the Pickaway County Public Library too!

Abbie Hoffman, Here's Your Check

NEW YORK (AP) — Crawdaddy magazine wants to send a check to its new travel editor for payment for his first article. Trouble is, they don't know where to reach travel editor Abbie Hoffman.

Hoffman, the fugitive founder of the Yippie movement, has been keeping one step ahead of the law since jumping bail in April 1974 while awaiting trial as an accused cocaine dealer.

In its July issue, Crawdaddy printed a letter purporting to be from Hoffman, asking if he could be the rock music magazine's travel editor.

"Figuring he was kidding ... we agreed to put his name on the masthead in the same issue," the magazine said. "Apparently Abbie bought (or stole) a copy of Crawdaddy, saw what we had done, and decided to take his job seriously."

Hoffman's first article — about Hollywood — appears in the current issue and is titled "Shoot-out in Tinseltown."

Mine Safety Stepped Up

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — The Scotia mine disaster in Kentucky which killed 26 men has resulted in new procedures and a harder line by the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration.

"One of the lessons we have learned is that some of the mines that we thought were doing a very good job were not doing the kind of job we'd hoped they'd be doing," said Robert Barrett, administrator of MESA.

"As a result, we have changed some of our inspection procedures," he said.

Among the changes is the "blitz technique" of inspecting coal mines whereby several inspectors — not just one — visit a single operation as a unit.

"Even those mines not being blitzed are apprehensive and expectant of a great influx of inspectors," Barrett told a group Thursday at West Virginia University.

He said communication among the miners and officials was so sophisticated that miners generally have been able to do away with safety violations before an inspector arrived.

"They would call in ahead of time and everybody would shut down and clean up and hang the curtains, which puts the air to the faces," he said.

The first recorded strike in Ohio came in 1835. It was the Cincinnati Harnessmakers' Union and demands were for higher wages and a 10-hour day.

Richmond Woman Wins Ohio Lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — Celia McLaughlin, 62, of Richmond, near Steubenville, said she lost her husband to a heart attack three weeks ago and was about ready to go out and look for a job.

But Mrs. McLaughlin's fortunes changed suddenly Thursday night, when she won $1,000 a month for life, with a guaranteed minimum of $400,000, in the Ohio lottery.

She said the ticket she won with was one her husband, Wayne, 69, bought before he died on July 18.

"I'm very happy tonight, as I know he would be," said Mrs. McLaughlin.

With her in the television studio as she won out over five other contestants were her three children and her seven grandchildren.

She said some of the winnings will go to help with the grandchildren's education and "I may travel a little bit."

Second prize of $5,000 in the Buckeye 1,000 game went to Ronald Peck of Dayton. Other winners included Marion Humar, Euclid, $4,000; Connie McCormick, Akron, $3,000; Frances Helligel, Brookville, $2,000, and John Whitt, Columbus, $1,000.

It was the final week for the Buckeye 1,000. Next week the lottery's Pot o' Gold game starts.

In the TV Extra game Thursday night, the top prize of $20,000 was won by Stanley Otis Jr. of Pittsford, Mich. Terrence Marks of University Heights won $10,000 and Alexander Mikula of Twinsburg $5,000. In the weekly numbers drawing, the following numbers were picked: 937; 5966; 22114; 989449.

There will also be graphic representations of records from nature, space, science, the animal and plant kingdoms, arts and entertainment and the mechanical world. Displays will change as new records are set.

The exhibits were created by Norris McWhirter, co-author of "The Guinness Book of World Records."

Fair fever has been high all week and its effect is truly being felt by "old mom". I only have one 4-H member with three projects and it is beginning to wear me out so I have the greatest admiration for those parents who have more than one member and projects in both home economics and livestock.

Seeing the beaming faces of each youngster as he or she makes it through the judging and receives the coveted grade ribbon makes it all worthwhile. Ask any parent.

We congratulate Richard Speakman who was awarded grand champion honors for his first year rabbit project. He is a son of Richard and Nancy Speakman. In the Rabbit II project Lana Keller took third place honors. Lana is the comely daughter of Junior and Loretta Keller.

And we surely know the Neal sisters have the "moxie" to raise grand champion steers. Last year April had the joy of taking home the grand champion trophy and this year her younger sister Lori will have her trophy to add to the collection. The girls are the pretty daughters of Pat and Ann Neal.

Happy as a lark with her second place ribbon and lovely bracelet given by the Sterling State Bank for All American Foods is our Amy. Goodness knows we ate enough Jambalaya. We will share the recipe with you.

Jambalaya
2 tbsps. butter or oleo
1/2 cup diced onion
1/4 cup diced green pepper
1 lb. ground beef

Betty Clooney Dies At 45

CINCINNATI (AP) — Betty Clooney Campo, sister of film star Rosemary Clooney, died Thursday in Las Vegas, Nev. She was 45.

The two singers, natives of Maysville, Ky., began their singing careers professionally with WLW radio in Cincinnati when Betty was 14 in the late 1940s.

Betty Clooney gave up her career to become a housewife and mother. She was married to band leader Pupi Campo, whose band plays at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas. The couple had four children.

She was also the sister of WKRC-TV news anchorman Nick Clooney in Cincinnati.

A family spokesman said Miss Clooney died of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered Wednesday.

She later was co-host for the Jack Parr morning show on CBS-TV and had her own television show in Detroit.

Other survivors include one son, three daughters, and another sister, Gail Stone.

Funeral mass will be held Saturday in Las Vegas and burial will be in Miami, Fla.

In 1780, Ohio was all Indian country — Delawares living in the woods and meadows of the Muskingum Valley and the Tuscarawas, Shawnees roving the Scioto Valley. Wyandots held the Maumee Valley and the Valley of the Sandusky, the Miamis ranged the region of the Miami and Upper Wabash Rivers, the Weas and Piankeshaws in the lower Wabash Valley, the Kickapoos, Patawatomis and Chippewas in the grasslands of Illinois.

1 28 oz. can tomatoes
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. thyme
1 small bay leaf
1 1-3 cups instant rice

Melt butter or oleo in skillet, medium heat. Add onion, green pepper and ground beef. Cook, stirring often, until meat is browned. If a large amount of fat cooks out, spoon off excess. Drain tomatoes, measuring juice. Add water to juice to make 1 1/2 cups. Add the liquid, tomatoes, salt, sugar, thyme and bay leaf to mixture in skillet. Cover and simmer five minutes. Then stir in rice, cover and simmer five minutes longer. Discard bay leaf before serving.

Hint: Amy chopped the tomatoes into small pieces which we liked much better than leaving them whole as they came from the can.

Birthday parties are always high on the list of favorite ways to entertain and especially during summer months. We have had two recent surprise parties. First of all Juanita Cook and her daughter Shana Wills planned a surprise for A. J. Cook's 84th big day.

Albert and Daisy Cook Hoffman came from Kenton, Jess and Gertrude Cook drove down from Marysville and so did Art and Faye Cook. Sister Laura Cook Thomas and her husband Clarence were unable to join the happy throng. Neighbor Vera Brown baked and decorated a beautiful cake for A. J. and he received cards and gifts from lots of well wishers.

Dorothy O'Conner was the surprised guest of honor when all her children and their families as well as other friends and relatives gathered round to celebrate her natal day. Engineering and in on the plot were her husband Cecil O'Conner and son Keith, daughter Sonya (Mrs. Ronald) Baldwin and her Bryan, Brent and Brenda from Belle Center, daughter Janice (Mrs. William) Voss of Ashville, sons Mr. and Mrs. Ronald O'Conner, Erin and Ronnie, Mr. and Mrs. Mike O'Conner all from Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry O'Conner, Lisa, Timmy, and Romona, and Jerry E. from Orient, her brother Willard Seymour and nephew Willard Seymour Jr. and mother-in-law Bernice O'Conner, all of our town, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Bennington, Mrs. Lucille Shockilford and Samantha of Washington C.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wood of Marion visited the entire day Tuesday with good friend Emma Puffinbarger. During the afternoon they all went to Circleville for a visit with Harry Puffinbarger. Dear Harry has been released from Berger Hospital and is presently with his daughter Mary June Diltz and family at Circleville for further convalescing.

Hyacinth (Mrs. John) Dearth and her daughter Margaret (Mrs. Carroll) Cook spent a most pleasant week-end recently at a lovely mountain resort located in the scenery gorgeous Ozark Mountains.

It is back to the work-a-day world for Anna Cox, Harry and Cora Young, Paul and Janet Young but they have fond memories of a pleasant vacation spent lolling on the beach at Clearwater Beach, Florida and so do the children Sheryl Cox, Tricia and Todd Young (Paul and Janet's offspring). A day was given to Disney World and the fun to be had there.

A whole "passel" of folks drove down to Cincy for a double header ball game the other night but with it being fair time trying to track down just who all went is quite a chore so I'll mention those I know for now and bring you up to date on the others later. For one thing it was Jackson Youth League Ball members and families. There were the Tom Duvalls, Gail Wolfe family, and the Paul Azbell family, to get started.

Ron Bush joined with a gang of General Motors buddies and Westinghouse employees who chartered a bus and enjoyed Sunday at the Riverfront stadium.

"Mimmy" and Aunt Amy will have the pleasure of looking after Monica Ellen Easterday's needs from Friday until late Monday while her parents Marc and Debbie Easterday vacation at Gatlinburg and the Smoky Mts.

Monica's Pop-Pop Easterday and Aunt Becki will leave Friday evening for Lake Erie where they will be joined by Mike McCain for a couple of days of fishing. Mike is familiar with the area since he has been employed for the season by the Division of Natural Resources and is stationed at the Lake.

It is always rather sad to have a neighbor of long standing leave the community and so it is for those neighbors of Nell Jean "Sis" Corcoran. She will be making her home in California which is a "fur piece" from Williamsport. Everyone wishes her nothing but the very best at all times.

One really good thing about a county fair is the fact a person gets a chance to chat with folks they do not always see on a regular basis. For instance, chatting with Bernice Hulse the other evening I learned that she, Ruth Steinhauser (former Williamsport school teacher) and Ruth's son Carl Jr., journeyed to Illinois and had the time of their lives attending a reunion of the Ater family. What made it even more fun was the spur of the moment decision to go.

There are more things I could chatter about but it is time to make a "run" to the fairgrounds, again!

Be with you again next week, the Lord willing. Take care.
Think About: The way to secure friends is to be one.

Mystery Disease Running Its Course, Authorities Believe

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Health officials were optimistic today that the worst may be over in the explosive outbreak of "legionnaire's disease." The source remains a mystery, but there have been no new cases in two days.

Swine flu and other influenza viruses have been all but ruled out as medical researchers continued round-the-clock efforts to identify the cause of the illness that has killed 23 persons.

Two persons who exhibited symptoms of the disease — fever, chills and lung congestion — died Thursday in southwestern Pennsylvania, but state health officials have not yet officially listed them as victims of the disease. As in all confirmed cases, however, they had some connection with a state American Legion convention in Philadelphia two weeks ago.

Efforts to identify the source of the disease now focuses on an unidentified virus still being sought in the laboratories and a possible toxin that may have infected the victims while in Philadelphia.

New information on a possible viral source was expected when new tests are completed today at state Health Department laboratories in Philadelphia and at the U.S. Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Meanwhile, teams of medical detectives fanned out today to check the six hotels and scores of restaurants where those attending the convention stayed and ate. They were checking air conditioning systems, water sources, food and even carpets and wallpaper, looking for a toxin — a poisonous substance — that may have triggered the outbreak.

No new cases of the disease have been reported since Tuesday, state Health Secretary Leonard Bachman reported Thursday. He said that some of the 138 persons hospitalized in the outbreak have been allowed to return home.

There was still no evidence of contagious spread of the disease, he added, and evidence points to a slackening off.

"We believe the reporting system is good and we are optimistic," said Bachman, standing before a chart detailing the perplexing strength with which the disease broke forth.

The legionnaires opened their convention in Philadelphia July 21 and adjourned July 24. The following Monday, more than a score of people who attended or had some contact with the convention were ill.

One man who exhibited the disease symptoms died Tuesday, July 27, according to Bachman

The way things are shaping up and the talk that is coming out of the training camps leads us to believe that tonight's Ohio High School All-Star clash at Ohio State Stadium should present more explosions than a guy with a box of matches in a dynamite factory.

It appears that both the North and South squad are offense orientated which sets the stage for plenty of excitement.

Of course, our main concern is Circleville's Biff Bumgarner — and if he gets a chance to show what he can do — the crowd is going to be in for a treat.

We talked with Lou Berliner, director of publicity for the event, and he informed us that there will also be a special pre-game and halftime show that should delight the whole family.

It should be spectacular as there are presently around 450 girls attending the Buckeye Workshop at OSU, under the direction of Marilyn Rice, and they will perform at the game. This includes drill teams, baton twirlers, pom-pom girls, rifle teams, flag corps and various other maneuvers.

The Westerville South High School band will provide the music — And to put the icing on the cake — The world famous All-American Girls Drill Team from Atlanta, Ga., will also perform. They will be sponsored by the Coca Cola Bottling Company.

So when you put it all together, it adds up to one whale of an evening's entertainment with something for everyone in the family.

There are still plenty of good seats on sale at the stadium box office beginning at 5 p.m. and the price is quite reasonable.

We will certainly be there and hope to see plenty of people we know enjoying the festivities.

Our "fearless" forecast — In the North-South High School All-Star, we believe in the old saying "Save your Confederate money because the South's going to rise again."

Until next time, have a nice day—be a good sport.

The Los Angeles Dodgers have been chasing Cincinnati up a hill all season, but have finally run into a big Red stop sign, it seems.

The Reds have put some daylight between themselves and their closest pursuers in the National League West, opening up a formidable 10-game lead

Blyleven, Rangers Blank Angels

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Bert Blyleven, a major league pitcher since 1970, only recently learned how to throw a fastball.

Lacking one major tool of the trade for much of his career, Blyleven still has managed 104 victories. The latest came Thursday night when Blyleven relied on his usual baffling curve ball and a newly-discovered fastball to pitch the Texas Rangers to a 1-0 victory over the California Angels.

Blyleven, a 25-year-old righthander, has been a stone's throw away from superstardom in his career. It now turns out that the thrown stone was a fastball.

Sid Hudson, Texas' pitching coach, said Blyleven's problem was in the palm of his hand all the time. Hudson merely had Blyleven change the grip on his fastball.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox edged the Detroit Tigers 5-4; the Baltimore Orioles topped the Cleveland Indians 6-2; the Kansas City Royals downed the Minnesota Twins 6-4, and the Milwaukee Brewers beat the New York Yankees 9-3 in a rain-shortened six-inning game.

Thursday night, the Rangers scratched out a run in the second inning. Jeff Burroughs lofted a wind-blown double, moved to third on Tom with Thursday night's 3-2 victory over the Dodgers.

The pace has the defending World Champions going like 100 this season. "We can honestly win 30 games or more," said the Cincinnati manager after the runaway Reds won their 70th game of the season. "I know we're a good team, and every year from the spring we point to winning 100 games."

Grieve's sacrifice and scored on Len Randle's sacrifice fly.

Blyleven, 9-12, allowed only two runners to reach second base and forced 16 Angels to ground out. "I tried to kick myself in the tail from the sixth inning on and keep the ball down," said Blyleven, who recorded his fourth shutout of the season.

Orioles 6, Indians 2

Third baseman Doug DeCinces, emerging from Brook Robinson's long shadow, is beginning to build his own reputation.

"I'm just starting to play regularly," said DeCinces, who belted a home run and a two-run triple to pace the Orioles' attack. "I have to prove to the fans, especially the fans in Baltimore that I'm good enough to fill in for Brooks."

Royals 6, Twins 4

The Royals won their 64th game of the season and Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog said they only have to win 31 of their last 58 games to grab the title in the AL West.

"I think 95 will do it," said Herzog after Fred Patek's two-run tie-breaking single in the sixth inning propelled the Royals to a three-game sweep of the Twins, 11½ games back.

Heavy NFL Game Slate This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The last time he saw Joe Washington, Coach Chuck Fairbanks stood on the sidelines cheering on the young freshman halfback. Tonight, four years later, Fairbanks will be on those same sidelines trying to devise a way to stop him.

The change in the coach's allegiance occurred, of course, when the two parted the college scene at Oklahoma for the pros — Fairbanks to the New England Patriots and Washington to the San Diego Chargers.

Those teams will oppose each other in a National Football League preseason game, one of two scheduled tonight.

The site makes the Fairbanks-Washington confrontation even more interesting — they are returning to Owen Field at Norman, Oklahoma, the first pro game to be played there since 1959. A crowd of 40,000 is expected to cheer their old favorites.

The other game will match two neighbors, the Washington Redskins and the Baltimore Colts at Baltimore,

Buddy Allin Takes Lead In Golf Tilt

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Buddy Allin, riding high with an eight-under-63 in the first round of the B.C. Open golf tournament, wants badly to win this one.

If he does, Allin, winner of the Pleasant Valley Classic on Sunday, will qualify for the 1976 World Series of Golf.

A victory in this $200,000 event, he said, would enable him to get into the select field. But if he fails, he still has a chance to make the classic before the end of the month.

Jerry McGee, with only one victory in 10 years on the PGA tour, was in the clubhouse with a six-under-par 65 when Allin was making his surge Thursday.

Allin began with four straight birdies and finished his round with 10 of them against only two bogies. He one-putted 11 greens as he turned in a course record 63 at the par-71, 6,868-yard En-Joie Golf Club.

"I'm just playing one day at a time," he said, saying his victory in the Pleasant Valley was not putting any pressure on him in the B.C., which began six years ago as a one-day satellite event.

The top prize in this tournament — named after the comic strip "B.C." — is $40,000, the amount Allin won five days ago.

Bob Wynn, who admitted he finally has been playing "pretty solid" the last two weeks, tied McGee for second after 18 holes.

The Reds won 108 games last season and figure to hit the century mark again, the way they've been playing of late. They've won eight of their last nine games and 24 of 32.

The Philadelphia Phillies are dominating the East Division the way Cincinnati is the West. With Thursday night's 5-2 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh's 7-4 loss to the New York Mets, the Phillies have opened a stunning 14-game lead over the Pirates.

In other National League action, the San Diego Padres trimmed the Houston Astros 4-3, the San Francisco Giants nipped the Atlanta Braves 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs beat the Montreal Expos 4-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before rain washed out the second game.

Tony Perez slugged a base-empty homer, Pete Rose doubled and singled twice and Fred Normann scattered seven hits to lead Cincinnati over Los Angeles. Perez' 12th homer, coming off loser Don Sutton, 12-9, gave the Reds a 3-0 lead.

George Foster drove in his 93rd run with a single in the third inning and Dave Concepcion singled home Cincinnati's second run in the fourth. Norman, 11-2, posted his fifth straight victory by striking out six, including Reggie Smith three times.

Phillies 5, Cardinals 2

Ollie Brown's home run triggered a four-run Philadelphia fifth inning and helped the Phillies beat St. Louis in a rain-shortened eight-inning game. Hector Cruz' homer had provided the Cards with a 2-0 lead in the second inning.

Mets 7, Pirates 4

Jon Matlack pitched and batted New York over Pittsburgh with relief help from Skip Lockwood. The New York starter allowed all of Pittsburgh's six hits before leaving the game in the eighth inning. In addition, Matlack drove in one run and scored another as the Mets hammered four Pirate pitchers for 17 hits.

Padres 4, Astros 3

Doug Rader drove in two runs and Dave Friesleben and Butch Metzger combined on an eight-hitter, lifting San Diego over Houston.

Giants 2, Braves 1

Gary Thomasson smashed a home run, then doubled and scored the go-ahead run as San Francisco trimmed Atlanta. Thomasson hit Phil Niekro's second pitch of the game into the right-field seats for his fourth homer of the season.

Cubs 4, Expos 3

Solo homers by George Mitterwald and Rick Monday and two unearned runs in the fifth inning gave Chicago its victory over Montreal before rain washed out the second game in the second inning.

Class members will demonstrate the equipment and diving techniques. Also from the "Y program will be members of the pre-school class demonstrating that young children can learn to swim at this early age. The pre-school program was directed by Virginia Johnson and Kathy Penn.

Red Cross Convoy Runs Into Trouble

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A Red Cross convoy loading wounded in the Tal Zaatar Palestinian camp had to pull out hastily today after several hundred panicky Palestinians tried to take over its vehicles, according to military radio reports from the camp.

Christian militiamen surrounding the camp fired on the convoy and at least 30 persons were wounded, the monitored reports said.

There was no indication whether the wounded included Red Cross workers. Red Cross officials could not be reached immediately for confirmation of the reports.

The reports said the panic broke out in a former soccer field where the wounded were being loaded onto Red Cross vehicles for transport to a hospital in Moslem-controlled western Beirut.

The radio said shortly before the panic broke out that the camp commander had warned the Red Cross might have to withdraw because he was having trouble controlling the people in the camp.

Palestinians have said as many as 30,000 camp residents live in underground tunnels and bunkers and in the lower floors of buildings blasted during a seven-week Christian siege.

Red Cross convoys Tuesday and Wednesday took 334 wounded from Tal Zaatar before a one-day interruption to re-establish security arrangements.

Christians claimed conquest earlier today of the Moslem slum of Nabaa near Tal Zaatar, which would leave the Palestinian camp the last Moslem stronghold in Christian-held eastern Beirut.

The Christian siege has neutralized Tal Zaatar's threat to highways from Beirut to the Christian hinterland stretching north from Beirut to Moslem-controlled Tripoli, Lebanon's second largest city.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A good day for planning next week's program. Be especially astute in mapping out budgetary requirements. You may be faced with some unforeseen expenses.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Avoid present tendencies toward recklessness and extravagance. You could regret such actions later.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Ignore rumors and correct misunderstandings wherever you can. But remember that the more quietly you handle such matters, the more successful will be your efforts.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may have to make some quick moves. Answer is to have alternative methods in mind. Some of your philosophical concepts are now subject to sudden change.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Self-control and a determination to avoid arguments required now. Persons born under some Signs may be a bit "edgy" so do nothing to stir up differences.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 21): An unexpected invitation to an evening function could strengthen your social standing considerably. Don't hesitate to accept.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 23): Don't change plans or methods without first consulting all concerned. Study where changes ARE needed and to what degree. Press for efficiency.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Everyone has to take chances at some time or other, but this is no day for YOU to take unnecessary risks. Day calls for cautious, conservative action.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Mixed influences. Avoid overoptimism. Too rosy an outlook could cause you to overlook small but vital details. The p.m. brings an interesting bit of news.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Let certain situations ride now. Forcing issues will do more harm than good. By demonstration, you can let others know that your ideas are practical.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Consult with others before making important decisions. Your endurance may be tested, but you are used to tests — and usually pass them with flying colors.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Your thoughts finally "jell" on a project you've been contemplating. You "put it altogether," as they say, and results will prove it. YOU BORN TODAY are innately enthusiastic, outgoing, always looking for the best that life has to offer. The Leo-born are extremely ambitious, full of lively incentive and extraordinarily progressive in their thinking and methods. You are a perfectionist, too, and your work is always highly individualized but, in the pursuit of this individuality, you are likely to acquire an overpowering arrogance, refusing to take orders from anyone and booking no criticism or interference. Try to be more flexible, more adaptable to the personalities with whom you deal. Your versatility is such that the fields in which you could excel are almost limitless, but you would probably attain your greatest success on the stage, in writing, the law, statesmanship, painting or music. Orioles Rip Indians, 6-2

CLEVELAND (AP) — It's not easy to replace a legend. Just ask Baltimore Orioles' third baseman Doug DeCinces.

But the 25-year-old hero apparent to Brooks Robinson showed why he is so highly thought of in the Orioles' organization Thursday night, as he hit a home run and a two-run triple to lead the Orioles to a 6-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

"I have to prove to the fans, especially the fans in Baltimore, that I'm good enough to fill in for Brooks," DeCinces said.

DeCinces is playing regularly now, and hopes he can meet the long-awaited opportunity.

He commented, "The whole first half of the year was an in-and-out situation with Brooks and me. It was tough on both of us. There's no way you can get any consistency like that."

DeCinces started and finished the Orioles' attack on Indians' starter and loser Jim Bibby, 7-4, and reliever Tom Buskey. His sixth round-tripper of the year got Baltimore on the board in the second inning, and his two-run opposite field triple in the eighth broke the game open.

In between, he had to settle for a single after smashing an upper-deck blast that curved foul at the last moment.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Many years ago, a pal of mine, an ex-singer named Denny Shryack, told me about a wild comic with whom he used to work club dates. He and the comic grew up together in Duluth, Minn. Music was the guy's name. At first, he worked the lights for Shryack's vocal group, the Escorts. Then he started doing comedy bits.

The world is small, but it's still a shock to learn this Music fellow is the same citizen millions now know as Lorenzo Music, the off-screen voice of Carlton, the doorman on CBS' hit "Rhoda" series.

Next Tuesday, the Escorts' former lighting man goes before lights of his own as he and his wife, Henrietta, start taping their own syndicated TV talk, comedy and songfest program.

The daily one-hour opus, called "The Lorenz and Henrietta Music Show," already has been sold in 40 markets, spokesmen for it say, and the list ranges from New York to the stars' home town of Duluth.

Which is no end of satisfaction for Music, a short, bald, friendly man in his forties who may be the only ex-entertainment director of Fidelman's Resort in Michigan to hit it big in television.

"I still have Fidelman's towel in my banjo case," said Music, who plays banjo and guitar, as does his attractive blonde wife. The two performers have been married 16 years come November.

They met while at the University of Minnesota. A few years later, they got married and toured the world, doing a folk song-and-comedy act in night clubs from here to My Tho, South Vietnam.

In 1968, they settled here to raise a family (they have three kids). He got in the screenwriting business then when an old show biz pal, Tommy Smothers, hired him for "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour."

Music had never written for TV before, "but I was really lucky, man, because I was getting paid a lot of money and I was on a top hit show." He came out of his first TV writing job with an Emmy award.

That led to other work, then employment as a producer-writer in the Mary Tyler Moore works, where he wrote for Miss Moore's show and cocreated MTM's hit "Bob Newhart Show."

He also helped develop the "Rhoda" series, doing warm-up jokes for the audience as well as serving as the voice of Carlton the doorman.

He said Carlton's fame didn't cause his new show, though: "It helped, but it also helped that I did the warm-ups. Somebody saw me and I kept my performing chops up at the same time."

He and his wife seemed oddly happy about the coming grind, which calls for them to tape 120 shows, help write each show, appear in each show doing music and comedy, and to chat with the featured guest of each show.

Shoppers

PRAGUE (AP) — Within the span of one year, 700 shoppers were caught in the act in Prague's largest department store, Kotva. The majority of the shoppers were 30 or younger and each took an average of three items. Most of the people caught were carrying relatively large sums of money.

A popular trick was to walk into the shoe department with a pair of old shoes, and walk out with a pair of new ones.

Frescoes Found

PRAGUE (AP) — A unique group of early 14th century frescoes has been discovered in a remote central Czechoslovakian village.

The frescoes were uncovered in a 13th century church as workmen were installing electricity there. Experts describe them as "a unique medieval memorial of outstanding artistic value."

Kozohlody, the village where the works of art were found, is so small it does not appear on most maps.

The chain stitch single-thread sewing machine was invented by James Edward Allen Gibbs of Mill Point, Va.

The gingerbread tree (the doom palm) grows in Egypt and in other areas near that country. It has red fruit about the size of an apple, has a single seed, and the pulp tastes a little like gingerbread.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Try To Hide Couple's Split

DEAR ABBY: Last year, our daughter was married in a beautiful church wedding after which she moved to another state. She is back home now (alone) for what friends and relatives assume is a "visit." Actually, Doris (not her real name) has left her husband, but nobody knows it yet.

We have asked her not to announce it because we still have hopes that she and her husband will patch up their differences. But Doris insists that there's no chance for a reconciliation. Abby, what should we tell people when she stays and stays? Doris says she wants to see a lawyer here who's a friend of her father's, but we're urging her to wait a while. Once she sees a lawyer about a divorce, the cat will be out of the bag and the whole town will start talking. She says she doesn't care, but we do.

Doris is 23 and her husband is 25. She refuses to say why she left him. How should we handle this?

DORIS' MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: What's to handle? Your daughter is an adult, and since she has asked for no advice or counsel from you, the best thing you can give her is your wholehearted support. Your biggest concern seems to be "what to tell people." Tell them the truth.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the woman whose husband reads all the time. It annoyed her, but I can understand how he feels because that's the way I am. You might call us "bookaholics."

I always have something to read with me. I read if I'm eating alone or taking a bath. I read while I'm walking down the street or waiting for a red light. I read while waiting for an elevator, or standing in line at a checkout counter. It makes the time go faster and calms my nerves.

If I don't have something to read, and I have a few minutes to spare, I become very upset and even physically sick.

SEATTLE BOOKAHOLIC

DEAR BOOKAHOLIC: I'm all for reading, but reading while walking down the street or waiting for a red light can be hazardous to one's health.

DEAR ABBY: Just to put an end to the controversy about why a man would wear only one earring: MY reason is simple—I lost the other one.

Carbon Monoxide Claims Couple

FOLLANSBEE, W.Va. (AP) — Police have concluded that carbon monoxide poisoning killed a young couple whose bodies were found slumped in a car parked in a secluded area.

The victims, Judy Sullivan, 17, of Wellsburg, and Michael Six, 24, of Steubenville, Ohio, were discovered Wednesday night near Follansbee. Authorities said they had been dead since last weekend.

A floor board in the car had rusted through, allowing exhaust gases to leak into the car, police said.

Vigil Marks Time Of Atom Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antiwar activist Philip Berrigan and his wife, Elizabeth McAllister, were among a dozen antinuclear demonstrators who began a vigil outside the Pentagon to mark the 31st anniversary of the atomic bombing of two Japanese cities in World War II.

The demonstrators distributed leaflets opposing the growth of U.S. nuclear weaponry, asking, "When is enough?" They said the vigil, which began Thursday, would continue today and would resume on Monday.

The atomic bombing of Hiroshima occurred 31 years ago today on Aug. 6, 1945. A second atom bomb was dropped on Nagasaki 31 years ago Monday.

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week, the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any question concerning his Veterans Administration Benefits should contact the Veterans Service Officer at 219 South Court Street.

(Q) I understand there is some kind of a State Law which allows a disabled veteran to fish without a license. Is this true?

(A) This is true . . . to a degree. To be allowed to hunt or fish without a license the veteran MUST be totally and permanently disabled, and he MUST have in his possession a letter from the Veterans Administration to this effect. The law does not indicate whether the total and permanent disability should be service connected or not, so we will assume it is safe to say that either way is acceptable. To obtain the letter, is a simple matter. Your Veterans Service Officer can assist you in preparing your request to VA.

(Q) The Post Office has just changed my address from Route 1 to a road and a house number. Is it alright that I fill in the back of the envelope from my husbands Compensation check? Will this change of address form be sufficient to notify VA of your change in address?

(A) Your Veterans Service Officer has a special form for a change in address, that will speed up the process and start your checks coming to your new address quicker. Just stop by his office; the form only takes a few minutes of your time.

(Q) How about other benefits for veterans since the Viet Nam Conflict has ended . . . do all of them still exist?

(A) There have been drastic changes in some. For instance, any veteran entering service after May 7, 1975, is not entitled to Total Non Service Connected Pension benefits, nor is his widow entitled to Death Pension benefits. Also, veterans who entered the service after the May 7 date are not entitled to burial and plot allowances.

(Q) Are there any restrictions for VA non service connected medical care for peacetime veterans?

(A) Peacetime veterans are on the same basis as wartime veterans for VA hospital and nursing home care. Honorable active service, even of only one day, entitles a person to hospital care for non service connected disabilities, if otherwise qualified. Basic requirements are 1.) hospitalization is deemed necessary; 2.) a bed is available, and 3.) inability to pay for private hospital care. Inability to pay is not a requirement in cases where a veteran is age 65 or over, or is receiving a pension.

(Q) Exactly what is the difference between Pension and Compensation? I always thought both meant the same thing.

(A) Compensation is a benefit paid by the Veterans Administration for a disability which occurred in Service. Or, in other words for a Service Connected Disability. Pension is a benefit paid by the VA for a disability which is not the result of service. To receive a Pension, a veteran must be Totally and Permanently disabled, and be within income limitations as provided by law. Compensation is paid in degrees of from 10 to 100 per cent.

Court Files 93 New Cases

The Pickaway County Common Pleas Court filed 93 new cases during the month of July. Of those new cases, three were personal injury complaints, one was a workmen's compensation suit, 33 were criminal cases, 40 were domestic relation matters and 16 fell into the "all others" category.

Also during the month of July, the court terminated 83 cases. Those cases were terminated in the following manners: one by jury trial, seven by court trial, three by pre-trial, 18 by dismissal, 44 by default and two by transfer to another court or judge.

Three criminal cases were terminated because the accused could not be located for trial.

At the beginning of the month, there were 236 pending cases and there were 246 left pending on the last day of the month. The majority, 123, of the cases left pending fall into the domestic relations category which includes divorce actions and petitions for dissolution of marriage. There are also 44 criminal, 27 personal injury, two workmen's compensation and 50 other cases left pending.

equipment leasing gives you more of what you're farming for...

PROFIT!

Ever given any thought to leasing farm equipment? It just might be to your advantage because when you lease, 100 per cent of your payments are tax deductible! You also may qualify for the investment tax credit. Leasing can be a practical alternative to equity financing and it's a useful supplement to existing bank lines of credit. In addition, leasing offers you the most modern, up-to-date equipment for efficient and profitable farming.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

1. DETERMINE THE EXACT EQUIPMENT YOU WANT . . . pick the supplier or manufacturer and negotiate the best price with him.
2. EQUIPMENT WILL BE PURCHASED FOR YOU . . . The Second National Bank will then purchase the equipment you have selected and have it delivered to you.
3. EQUIPMENT IS DELIVERED TO YOU . . . when the equipment you have selected is delivered and accepted by you, we will pay the supplier and then invoice you in accordance with the terms of the lease.

OTHER COMMONLY ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT LEASING

1. What kind of equipment can be leased? Any type and combination of equipment you wish.
2. When does the lease start? The lease starts only after the equipment has been delivered to and accepted by you.
3. When are payments made? Payments will be made monthly, or quarterly, as called for in the lease agreement. You will be invoiced in advance of the due date.
4. Who maintains the equipment? You receive the benefit of all manufacturer's warranties, just as though you had purchased the equipment. Maintenance and service not covered by warranties is your responsibility.
5. Who pays for taxes and insurance? Sales and use taxes will be included in the monthly lease payments. Payment of other taxes, and the providing of insurance, is your responsibility.
6. What happens at the end of the lease? These options are usually available under our lease plans: renew the lease at greatly reduced rentals; arrange to purchase the equipment; or arrange a trade-in on new equipment on a new lease.

For complete information about leasing, contact William A. Bennett, Assistant Cashier at 614/474-8891. Or stop by . . . we'll be glad to talk over equipment leasing with you.
